HYSTEROSCOPY INFORMATION LEAFLET

This leaflet is meant to help you understand the procedure of hysteroscopy so that you can be better prepared, physically and mentally. These are general instructions applicable to most patients undergoing a hysteroscopy. According to individual situation, doctors will advise you personally. In that case, all this information may not be applicable to you. You are encouraged to gather as much information as is necessary from the hospital. We are here to help you and will make our best efforts to make your stay at the hospital very enjoyable and stress free.

What is a hysteroscopy?

This involves putting a telescope measuring 5 mm in diameter through the cervix (neck of the womb) into the uterus (womb). This helps us to visualize the cavity of the womb on the screen. No cuts are made on the tummy for this procedure.

Instructions before admission to hospital

-If your operation is scheduled for the morning, it is important that you do not eat or drink from midnight onwards. If your operation is in the afternoon, you may have a light, early breakfast and then fast for at least six hours. This is for your own safety and comfort. If your stomach is not empty, you may be sick during the operation.

-Please keep all your jewelry and valuables at home before coming to the hospital. All staff are busy and cannot take any responsibility of personal belongings. If you happen to bring any valuables with you, the responsibility will be fully yours. The hospital or any staff cannot be held responsible for any loss of such private property. Please do not have any nail paints or fragrances on you before coming for the operation,

On the day of the operation

On the date and time planned, please come directly on the second floor. You are requested to be seated in the waiting area till one of the staff members attend to you.

What to expect next?

Once you have been admitted, please change into the theatre gown provided. You will be seen by an anesthetist after admission. Please let the anesthetist know if you or anyone in your family have had problems with previous anesthetics or operations. You must also inform about any allergies or any medications that you may be taking.

A needle is put into the arm through which the anesthetic drugs are given to put you to sleep. This is also useful to give you fluids during and after the operation. This is kept till you start eating and drinking again.

Going to the Theatre

On most occasions, you will be able to walk to the theatre. Inside the theatre, there may be bright lights, lots of equipment and it may feel busy and exciting. You will be requested to lie on a hard, narrow theatre table. There will be few members of staff in theatre pyjama suites (dress) wearing caps and masks. They are all present to help. At no stage, you will be left on your own. You will need to wear a snug fitting, transparent, oxygen mask for few minutes before the general anesthetic is given. As you go off to sleep, you may feel some pressure on your throat. This may be done to stop any acid coming up your stomach and escaping into your lungs. This is not painful, but can be uncomfortable. You will then be asleep while the hysteroscopy is done. You may wake up when you return to the ward and not remember the operation at all.

Post-op

When the operation is over, you will be wheeled to your bed. You will be sleepy and drowsy due to the anesthetic drugs for few hours after the operation. During this time, you will be under observation including pulse and blood pressure. You may feel sick and sometimes may vomit. It is important that you take oral intake only when advised by the staff. In the presence of sickness, it is sometimes necessary to wait longer before any oral intake is started.

You can go to the toilet, but make sure that someone is present to help. Once you can tolerate the oral intake, empty your bladder and are able to walk around on your own, you could go home.

What are the possible complications?

Hysteroscopy is a very commonly performed operation.

The possible complications include:

1. Uterine perforation
2. Bleeding
3. Infection

These are very rare complications with an incidence of less than 1 in 1000 patients. They are more seen in patients with risk factors such as previous surgery at the neck of the womb, in patients with fibroids in the womb, uterine adhesions and so on

How much rest do I need?

During the first 24 hours, you need a rest to recover from the operation. On the day after the operation, your recovery will get faster. On most occasions, within 24 hours, you would be able to eat and drink as usual, you can walk around comfortably and you are able to look after yourself very well. After 24 hours, you should expect to continuously get better and better. In case of any unexpected problems, please inform the hospital immediately.

Instructions after discharge

Avoid lifting heavy weights and avoid standing for too long in the first 24 hours.

There are no specific restrictions on your diet after going home.

You can have bath after the first 24 hours.

As per the doctor's advice you may need to take antibiotics for a total of five days Painkillers can be taken as and when required, but only after food and preferably with an antacid

Most patients are seen seven days after the operation to ensure that the recovery is complete and to discuss the findings and plan further treatment.

When can I go to work?

It is advisable to stay away from work for atleast the 24 hours. Most people resume work after the first 24 to 48 hours after a hysteroscopy procedure.
